DocuLynx, Inc. Celebrates New Expanded Processing Facility with Open House

July 8, 2008—www.doculynxinc.com—DocuLynx, Inc., a leading provider of archive retrieval, electronic distribution, and web presentment solutions for print service providers, will celebrate the grand opening of its new state-of-the-art processing facility in Omaha, NE with an Open House on Friday July 25, 2008. The highly secure, 5,000 square foot facility includes an IT area encased in 12-inch thick concrete walls and ceilings and features Uninterrupted Power Supply (UPS) along with a natural gas generator for backup power. All of these features have been put into place to protect customer information to the highest level of security and provide the benefit of 99.99% guaranteed uptime.

The Open House will be from 4 pm – 8 pm CT. Guests are invited to tour the new facility as well as enjoy opening events that include a trip to “Tropical Paradise” with delicious island food, refreshing tropical drinks, and the sounds of an authentic steel drum band. Sponsors of the event include Exstream Software by HP, MSI Service Integrators, CDP Communications, Prinova, Inc, and Sterling Marketing Group.

“The move to this expanded location is a milestone for DocuLynx,” said Terry Wieczorek, president and CEO of DocuLynx. “It supports our plans for continued growth and provides new opportunities for serving our current and prospective clients. We are very excited to showcase this new facility and share this time with our clients, vendor partners, and friends.”

The new facility is part of DocuLynx’s strategic growth plan to take the company to the next level. The company has grown significantly since the launch of its Mercury software in 2004, which has included tripling the size of its Pismo Beach, CA redundant processing facility in May of this year along with the new main processing facility in Omaha to provide for its growing ASP and SaaS services. For more information on the open house, contact: Terry Wieczorek at (402) 339-9972 ext: 1022 or via email at terry@doculynxinc.com.
